

Maryland's Foreclosure Prevention Pro Bono Project

Maryland's Foreclosure Prevention Pro Bono Project, launched in July 2008, is part of the state's efforts to help homeowners who are in danger of losing their properties. In an effort led by the Department of Housing and Community Development, the Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation, the Pro Bono Resource Center of Maryland and Civil Justice Inc., a statewide pro bono network of attorneys are available to work with homeowners to stop foreclosure proceedings and work with lenders on modifications and strategies to help homeowners stay in their homes.

Several agencies throughout the state are matching homeowners who meet certain eligibility criteria with pro bono attorneys. Homeowners who are interested in determining whether they are eligible for referral to a pro bono attorney must first be working with a non-profit Maryland housing counselor.

If you do not have a housing counselor, contact the Maryland HOPE Hotline at 1-877-462-7555, 8:00 am – 8:00 pm, 7 days a week for referral to a housing counselor near you. Your housing counselor can determine whether you are eligible for referral to a pro bono attorney through Maryland's Foreclosure Prevention Pro Bono Project based on the following criteria.

In order to be eligible for free legal assistance through the Foreclosure Prevention Pro Bono Project, homeowners must be living in the property in foreclosure and must not own any other property or a time share. Homeowners must have received a Notice of Intent to Foreclose or correspondence from their lender or lender's attorney regarding foreclosure, and must not be currently represented by an attorney in a matter related to the mortgage or the property.

Homeowners must also meet the income and asset guidelines of the agency covering their county of residence. The next several pages of this document provide the income and asset guidelines of each agency.
